FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This Report on Form 10-KSB contains certain forward-looking statements. These forward looking statements might include statements regarding (i) research and development plans, marketing plans, capital and operations expenditures, and results of operations; (ii) potential financing arrangements; (iii) potential utility and acceptance of the Registrant's existing and proposed products; and (iv) the need for, and availability of, additional financing.

Any forward-looking statements included herein are based on current expectations and involve a number of risks and uncertainties. These forward-looking statements are based on assumptions regarding the business of Discovery Oil, Ltd, the ("Company"), which involve judgments with respect to, among other things, future economic and competitive conditions and future business decisions, all of which are difficult or impossible to predict accurately and many of which are beyond the control of the Company. Although the Company believes that the assumptions underlying the forward looking statements are reasonable, any of the assumptions could prove inaccurate and, therefore, actual results may differ materially from those set forth in the forward-looking statements.

EXPLANATORY NOTE: As used in this report, the terms "we", "us", and "our" are sometimes used to refer to Discovery Oil, Ltd. and, as the context requires, its management.

PART I

Item 1. Description of Business

Discovery Oil, Ltd. (the "Company", "Registrant", or "Discovery Oil"), was originally organized under the laws of the State of Wyoming in 1964. The Company became a Delaware corporation through a merger with a wholly owned subsidiary in 1981. Prior to 1992, the Company was involved as a general partner in several limited partnerships for the purpose of drilling oil and gas wells in Ohio, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, and Texas. In 1988 the company filed a petition in Bankruptcy pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy code in a United States Bankruptcy Court. On July 10, 1996, the Court entered its order and Final Decree, confirming the execution of the Company's reorganization plan and concluding all proceedings and jurisdiction of the bankruptcy.

The Company formerly had a non-operating working interest in six producing oil wells having proved reserves. This interest was sold on August 12, 2004.

Current Strategy

Since the sale of previous interests, Discovery Oil has no revenue and has become a shell company. The Company is currently search for a new investment opportunity in the oil industry, which would probably take the form of a merger, stock- for-stock exchange or stock-for-assets exchange. No assurances can be made that we will be successful in locating and negotiating with any possible merger candidates.

The Company maintains an office in Malibu, California.

Selection of a Business

Since we have no current business, our plan of operation will be to seek one or more suitable business combinations or acquisitions to create value for our shareholders. Management has adopted a conservative policy of seeking opportunities that it considers to be of exceptional quality. Therefore, we may have to wait some time before consummating a suitable transaction. Management recognizes that the higher the standards it imposes upon us, the greater may be its competitive disadvantage when vying with other acquiring interests or entities.

The Company does not intend to restrict its consideration to any particular business or industry segment, though management intends to continue its focus on opportunities related to natural resources. Due to our lack of financial resources, the scope and number of suitable business ventures is limited. We are therefore most likely to participate in a single business venture. Accordingly, the Company will not be able to diversify and will be limited to one merger or acquisition. The lack of diversification will prevent us from offsetting losses from one business opportunity against profits from another.

The decision to participate in a specific business opportunity will be made upon management's analysis of the quality of the opportunity's management and personnel, the anticipated acceptability of products or marketing concepts, the merit of technological changes and numerous other factors which are difficult, if not impossible, to analyze through the application of any objective criteria. Further, it is anticipated that the historical operations of a specific venture may not necessarily be indicative of the potential for the future because of the necessity to substantially shift a marketing approach, expand operations, change product emphasis, change or substantially augment management, or make other changes. The Company will be partially dependent upon the management of any given business opportunity to identify such problems and to implement, or be primarily responsible for the implementation of required changes.

Since we may participate in a business opportunity with a newly organized business or with a business which is entering a new phase of growth, it should be emphasized that the Company may incur risk due to the failure of the target's management to have proven its abilities or effectiveness, or the failure to establish a market for the target's products or services, or the failure to realize profits.

The Company will not acquire or merge with any company for which audited financial statements cannot be obtained. Management anticipates that any opportunity in which we participate will present certain risks. Many of these risks cannot be adequately identified prior to selection of a specific opportunity. Our shareholders must therefore depend on the ability of management to identify and evaluate such risks. Further, in the case of some of the opportunities available to us, it may be anticipated that some of such opportunities are yet to develop as going concerns or that some of such opportunities are in the development stage in that same have not generated significant revenues from principal business activities prior to our participation.

Acquisition of Business

Implementation of a structure for any particular business acquisition may involve a merger, consolidation, reorganization, joint venture, franchise or licensing agreement with another corporation or entity. The Company may also purchase stock or assets of an existing business. On the completion of a transaction, it is possible that present management and shareholders of the Company would not remain in control of the Company. Further, our sole officer and director may, as part of the terms of any transaction, resign, to be replaced by new officers and directors without a vote of our shareholders.

We anticipate that any securities issued in any such reorganization would be issued in reliance on exemptions from registration under applicable federal and state securities laws. However, in certain circumstances, as a negotiated element of any transaction, the Company may agree to register securities either at the time a transaction is consummated, under certain conditions, or at a specified time thereafter. The issuance of substantial additional securities and their potential sale into any trading market may have a depressive effect on such market.

While the actual terms of a transaction to which the Company may be a party cannot be predicted, it may be expected that the parties to a business transaction will find it desirable to avoid the creation of a taxable event and thereby structure the acquisition in a so called "tax-free" reorganization under Section 368(a)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). In order to obtain tax-free treatment under the Code, it may be necessary for the owners of the acquired business to own 80% or more of the voting stock of the surviving entity. In such event, our shareholders would retain less than 20% of the issued and outstanding shares of the surviving entity, which could result in significant dilution in the equity of such shareholders.

Our due diligence process will require that management meet personally with the personnel involved in any given transaction, visit and inspect material facilities, obtain independent analysis or verification of the information provided, check references for management and key persons, and take other reasonable investigative measures, to the extent of our limited financial resources and management expertise.

The manner in which we participate in an opportunity will depend on the nature of the opportunity, the respective needs and desires of the Company and other parties, the management of the opportunity, and the our relative negotiating strengths. Negotiations that involve mergers or acquisitions will focus on the percentage of the Company that the target company shareholders would acquire in exchange for their shareholdings in the target company. Depending upon, among other things, the target company's assets and liabilities, our shareholders will in all likelihood hold a lesser percentage ownership interest in the Company following any merger or acquisition. The percentage ownership may be subject to significant reduction in the event the Company acquires a target company with substantial assets. Any merger or acquisition effected by the Company can be expected to have a significant dilutive effect on the percentage of shares held by our current shareholders.

Operation of Business After Acquisition

The Company's operation following its merger or acquisition of a business will be dependent on the nature of the business and the interest acquired. We are unable to determine at this time whether the Company will be in control of the business or whether present management will be in control of the Company following the acquisition. We may expect that any future business will present various challenges that cannot be predicted at the present time.

Government Regulation

The Company cannot anticipate the government regulations, if any, to which we may be subject until we have acquired an interest in a business. The use of assets to conduct a business that we may acquire could subject us to environmental, public health and safety, land use, trade, or other governmental regulations and state or local taxation. Our selection of a business in which to acquire an interest will include an effort to ascertain, to the extent of the limited resources of the Company, the effects of any government regulation on the prospective business of the Company. However, in certain circumstances, such as the acquisition of an interest in a new or start-up business activity, it may not be possible to predict with any degree of accuracy the impact of government regulation.

Competition

We will be involved in intense competition with other business entities, many of which will have a competitive edge over us by virtue of their stronger financial resources and prior experience in business. The Company can provide no assurance that we will be successful in obtaining a suitable business opportunity.

Marketability

As we currently are not involved in selling products or services, there can be no assurance that we will be successful in marketing any such products or services or whether a market will develop.

Patents, Trademarks, Licenses, Franchises, Concessions, Royalty Agreements and Labor Contracts

We currently have no patents, trademarks, licenses, franchises, concessions, royalty agreements or labor contracts.

Research and Development

We spent no amounts on research and development activities during each of the last two fiscal years.

Employees

The Company has no employees. Neither of the Company's executive officers are employed by the Company. Management services are provided on an "as needed" basis. The Company has no oral or written contracts for services with any member of management.

Perceived Benefits

There are certain perceived benefits to being a reporting company with a class of publicly- traded securities. These are commonly thought to include the following:

- the ability to use registered securities to make acquisitions of assets or businesses;
- increased visibility in the financial community;
- the facilitation of borrowing from financial institutions;
- improved trading efficiency;
- shareholder liquidity;
- greater ease in subsequently raising capital;
- o compensation of key employees through stock options for which there may be a market valuation;
- enhanced corporate image;
- a presence in the United States capital market.

Risk Factors

An investment in our common stock involves a high degree of risk. You should carefully consider the following material risks, together with the other information contained in this report on Form 10KSB, before you decide to buy our common stock. If any of the following risks actually occur, you might well lose all or part of your investment.

The Shares are highly speculative and stockholders should carefully consider the following risk factors, which are illustrative of the risks pertaining to the Company, but which should not be construed as representing all of the possible risks to be considered:

The company lacks operations and has losses which are expected to continue into the future.

The Company ceased operations August 12, 2004 when substantially all its operating assets were sold. The Company's operating history is not a useful measure upon which an evaluation of its future success or failure can be made. The Company's ability to achieve and maintain profitability and positive cash flow is dependent upon:

- the ability to generate revenues; and,
- the ability to raise the capital necessary to acquire an operating entity or engage in a merger or other transaction with an operating entity.

The Company is a "shell" corporation as that is defined under Rule 12b-2. Based upon current plans, the Company expects to incur operating losses in future periods. The Company cannot guarantee that it will be successful in generating revenues in the future.

If the company does not successfully consummate a business combination, the company will require additional funds.

For the Company to once again engage in operations, it will either need to raise additional funds through public or private debt or sale of equity, or it will need to acquire or enter into a merger transaction with an operating entity. Company is currently seeking to engage in such a merger with an operating entity, but there is no guarantee that this merger will reach a successful completion. If the merger fails and the Company seeks additional financing, this financing may not be available when needed. Even if this financing is available, it may be on terms that the Company deems unacceptable or are materially adverse to its interests with respect to dilution of book value, dividend preference, liquidation preference, or other terms.

The company is not an operating company and does not have any significant capital.

Because the Company does not have significant capital, it must limit its operations and there is little chance that operations will begin at any time soon, as a result of such limited capital, unless the Company obtains additional funding to acquire an operating entity or enters into a merger transaction with an operating entity.

Risk factors related to operations:

Independent Certified Public Accountants' Opinion - Going Concern.

The Company's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2006, were audited by the Company's independent certified public accountants, whose report includes an explanatory paragraph stating that the financial statements have been prepared assuming the Company will continue as a going concern and that the Company has incurred operating losses since its inception that raise substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern.

The Company has no working capital.

We have no working capital and are dependent upon our officers, directors and major shareholders to provide funds to the Company in order to satisfy our reporting and other obligations as a public company. Our long term success is ultimately dependent on our ability to create a new revenue base through the acquisition of producing properties or negotiating a business combination with a profitable business entity. We have commenced on a limited basis to investigate new business opportunities but there can be no assurance of our success.

There may be unforeseen risks associated with any new business venture.

The Company may be dependent upon existing or new management of the business venture ultimately acquired, and may lack the control necessary to adjust the direction of the venture in the event such operating management fails to cope with business problems. Because the Company may participate in ventures with newly-organized firms or with firms which are attempting to expand through new products, markets or methods of distribution, Discovery Oil may face additional special risks associated with development stage operations.

Participating in a business merger may result in a change of control.

Our current management jointly owns and controls 67.5% of our outstanding stock. At the effective date, Andrew and Jeanette Ippolito are in majority control of Discovery Oil. Control of the Company may change in the event of a business re-organization resulting in the issuance of additional common stock or other voting securities of the Company. Such change of control might result from the reduction of stock ownership of the present stockholders, and/or from the issuance of additional shares in connection with a business re-organization. It is possible that the Company's limited financial resources will restrict its participation in business opportunities to those which require the issuance of substantial additional Shares.

Our two majority shareholders may take action without shareholder vote.

Under certain circumstances, our two major shareholders, who are also our officers and directors, may authorize or take corporate action without the notice, approval, consent or vote of the remaining stockholders, subject only to their obligation to timely notify the minority stockholders of the action taken.

Dependence on Key Personnel:

The Company has no employees.

The Company is heavily dependent on our officers and directors for the successful implementation of our business plans, which are to seek out investment opportunities and acquisition candidates. Officers and directors are not required to devote any specified amount or percentage of its business time to the Company affairs, and to the extent that they spend time, it will be only a minimal amount seeking out acquisition candidates, performing necessary administrative paperwork and keeping Discovery Oil current in our filing obligations under the Exchange Act. Officers and directors are entitled to reimbursement for any out-of-pocket disbursements incurred on the Company's behalf in the investigation of potential business ventures.

The loss of any of our officers and directors would have an adverse effect on our business.

Our future success depends, to a significant extent, on the continued management of our existing officers and directors. No contractual relationship exists between the Company and our officers and directors, and no key person life insurance has been or is intended to be obtained covering any such person. Current management has a limited amount of time to devote to the operations of the Company. No assurance can be made that any successful acquisition will be negotiated.

There may be potential conflicts of interest.

Our officers and directors may be involved in other ventures and activities and may continue such activities in the future. If a specific business opportunity should become available, conflicts of interest may arise in the selection between the Company and the other ventures of the officers and directors. Since no policy has been formulated for the resolution of such potential conflicts, any conflicts which arise will be settled on a case-by-case basis. There is no guarantee that such a conflict will not result in the Company's inability to participate in particular ventures.

Item 2. Description of Properties

We currently own no properties. The Company leases furnished office space from our President, Andrew Ippolito for $1,300 per month. Lease may be terminated with 30 days written notice by either party, and is renewable month to month following December 31, 2006.

Oil and gas interests

In April of 1984, the Company purchased a non-operating working interest in six producing oil wells near the city of Signal Hill, California. The working interest granted the Company a 12.5% working interest, or a 9.32% net revenue interest after underlying royalty payments, in the oil and gas produced and sold from each well. Said working interest was sold on August 12, 2004.

Discovery is actively seeking new investment opportunities in the oil industry.

Item 6. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Management's discussion and analysis is intended to be read in conjunction with the Company's audited financial statements and notes thereto. The following statements may be forward-looking in nature and actual results may differ materially.

Plan of Operation

Since the sale of previous interests, Discovery Oil has no revenue and has become a shell company. The Company is currently search for a new investment opportunity in the oil industry, which would probably take the form of a merger, stock-for-stock exchange or stock-for-assets exchange. No assurances can be made that we will be successful in locating and negotiating with any possible merger candidates.

The Company's major shareholders have undertaken to make funds available to the Company in amounts sufficient to enable us to satisfy our reporting and other obligations as a public Company, and to commence, on a limited basis, the process of investigating possible merger and acquisition candidates.

Given our lack of cash or other assets, Discovery Oil will be extremely limited in our attempts to locate potential business situations for investigation. We do not know when, or if, we may be able to locate investment opportunities or potential merger candidates. Business opportunities, if any arise, are expected to become available to the Company principally from the personal contacts of our officers and directors. Although the current focus of management is to find investment opportunities or merger candidates within the oil industry, we will also consider other ventures and reserve the right to evaluate and to enter into any type of business opportunity, in any stage of development, in any location.

We may seek a business opportunity with a firm which only recently commenced operations, or a developing company in need of additional funds for expansion into new products or markets, an entity seeking to develop a new product or service, or an established business which may be experiencing financial or operating difficulties and is in need of additional capital which is perceived to be easier to raise by a public company. In some instances, a business opportunity may involve the acquisition or merger with a corporation which does not need substantial additional cash but which desires to establish a public trading market for its common stock.

We may purchase assets and establish wholly owned subsidiaries in various businesses or purchase existing businesses as subsidiaries. We anticipate that the selection of a business opportunity in which to participate will be complex and extremely risky. Because of general economic conditions, rapid technological advances being made in some industries, and shortages of available capital, management believes that there are numerous firms seeking the benefits of a publicly traded corporation. Such perceived benefits of a publicly traded corporation may include facilitating or improving the terms on which additional equity financing may be sought, providing liquidity for the principals of a business, creating a means for providing incentive stock options or similar benefits to key employees, providing liquidity (subject to restrictions of applicable statutes) for all shareholders, and other factors. Potentially available business opportunities may occur in many different industries and at various stages of development, all of which will make the task of comparative investigation and analysis of such business opportunities extremely difficult and complex. At the present time, management does not anticipate paying any finder's fee for locating an acquisition prospect.

As part of our investigation of acquisition possibilities, we may meet with executive officers of the business and its personnel, inspect its facilities, obtain independent analysis or verification of the information provided and conduct other reasonable measures, to the extent permitted by the Company's limited resources and management's limited expertise. Generally, we intend to analyze and make a determination based upon all available information without reliance upon any single factor as controlling. We can give no assurance that we will be able to find suitable a suitable business opportunity which may desire to combine with Discovery Oil.

Results of Operations

The Company reported a net loss of $64,791 for the year ended December 31, 2006, compared to a net loss of $374,618 for the year ended December 31, 2005. Revenues were $0 in both years. Operating expenses decreased from $374,618 in 2005 to $64,791 in 2006. The 2005 loss and expenses reflected the issuance of shares valued at $300,000 for consulting services related to our attempt to locate and acquire new business opportunities.

Financial Condition and Liquidity

Total assets at December 31, 2006 were $2,101, stockholder's deficit was $179,629, and the accumulated deficit was $1,107,451. Net cash provided by operations was $1,540 during the year ended December 31, 2006. The majority of the cash was used to support normal company operations as well as the continuing search for new investment opportunities.

The Company's liabilities increased to $181,731 at December 31, 2005 compared to $115,904 at December 31, 2005, primarily due to an increase in a related party payable.

The Company plans to fund its operations during fiscal year 2007 through advances from related parties, and possibly through the sale of the Company's common stock, although there can be no assurance that the Company would be successful in selling its common stock. It is anticipated that any revenue from oil sales in 2007 would be negligible as the Company has yet to locate a new investment opportunity.

Off Balance-Sheet Arrangements

During the 12 months ended December 31, 2006, the Company did not engage in any off-balance sheet arrangements as defined in Item 303(c) of the SEC's Regulation S-B.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of Discovery Oil, Ltd. as of December 31, 2006 and 2005, and the related statements of operations, stockholders' deficit and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Discovery Oil, Ltd. as of December 31, 2006 and 2005 and the results of its operations, stockholders' deficit and cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 2, the Company has a history of operating losses, has limited cash resources, has negative working capital and its viability is dependent upon its ability to meet its future financing requirements and the success of future operations. These factors raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plans regarding those matters also described in Note 2. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

DISCOVERY OIL, LTD.
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2006

NOTE 1 - ORGANIZATION AND BASIS OF PRESENTATION

Discovery Oil, Ltd. (hereinafter “the Company”) was originally organized in the State of Wyoming in 1964 and became a Delaware corporation through a merger with a wholly owned subsidiary in 1981. Prior to 1992, the Company was involved as a general partner in several limited partnerships for the purpose of drilling oil and gas wells in Ohio, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas and Texas. On August 12, 2004, the Company sold all of its 12.5% non-operating working interest in six oil wells for $62,850.

NOTE 2 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

This summary of significant accounting policies is presented to assist in understanding the financial statements. The financial statements and notes are representations of the Company’s management, which is responsible for their integrity and objectivity. These accounting policies conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America and have been consistently applied in the preparation of the financial statements.

Accounting Methods

The Company’s financial statements are prepared using the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Accounts Receivable

The Company carries its accounts receivable at cost less an allowance for doubtful accounts. On a periodic basis, the Company evaluates its accounts receivable and establishes an allowance for doubtful accounts, based on a history of past write-offs and collections and current credit conditions.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statements of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Derivative Instruments

The Financial Accounting Standards Board issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 133, “Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities” (hereinafter “SFAS No. 133”), as amended by SFAS No. 137, “Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities – Deferral of the Effective Date of FASB No. 133”, and SFAS No. 138, “Accounting for Certain Derivative Instruments and Certain Hedging Activities”, and SFAS No. 149, “Amendment of Statement 133 on Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities”. These statements establish accounting and reporting standards for derivative instruments, including certain derivative instruments embedded in other contracts, and for hedging activities. They require that an entity recognize all derivatives as either assets or liabilities in the balance sheet and measure those instruments at fair value.

If certain conditions are met, a derivative may be specifically designated as a hedge, the objective of which is to match the timing of gain or loss recognition on the hedging derivative with the recognition of (i) the changes in the fair value of the hedged asset or liability that are attributable to the hedged risk or (ii) the earnings effect of the hedged forecasted transaction. For a derivative not designated as a hedging instrument, the gain or loss is recognized in income in the period of change.

Historically, the Company has not entered into derivatives contracts to hedge existing risks or for speculative purposes.

DISCOVERY OIL, LTD.
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2006

At December 31, 2006 and 2005, the Company has not engaged in any transactions that would be considered derivative instruments or hedging activities.

Earnings (Loss) Per Share

On January 1, 1998, the Company adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 128, which provides for calculation of "basic" and "diluted" earnings per share. Basic earnings per share includes no dilution and is computed by dividing net income (loss) available to common shareholders by the weighted average common shares outstanding for the period. Diluted earnings per share reflect the potential dilution of securities that could share in the earnings of an entity similar to fully diluted earnings per share. The Company had no outstanding options or warrants at December 31, 2006 and 2005; accordingly, only basic earnings (loss) are presented.

Estimates

The process of preparing financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires the use of estimates and assumptions regarding certain types of assets, liabilities, revenues, and expenses. Such estimates primarily relate to unsettled transactions and events as of the date of the financial statements. Accordingly, upon settlement, actual results may differ from estimated amounts.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The Company's financial instruments as defined by Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 107, "Disclosures about Fair Value of Financial Instruments," include cash, trade accounts receivable, accounts payable and related party payables. All instruments are accounted for on a historical cost basis, which, due to the short maturity of these financial instruments, approximates fair value at December 31, 2006 and 2005.

Going Concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and satisfaction of liabilities in the normal course of business. The Company has limited cash, negative working capital, and has suffered material recurring losses from operations since inception. These factors raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Management estimates that the Company will need to raise an additional $60,000 to continue operations for the upcoming year.

The Company's management is currently exploring new business opportunities, which will, if successful, mitigate these factors that raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

The financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability and classification of recorded assets, or the amounts and classification of liabilities that might be necessary in the event the Company cannot continue in existence.

Impairment of Long-Lived Assets

In October, 2001, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issues Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 144 "Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets" (hereinafter "SFAS No. 144"). SFAS No. 144 replaces SFAS No. 121, "Accounting for the Impairment of Long-Lived Assets and for Long-Lived Assets to be Disposed of." This standard establishes a single accounting model for long-lived assets to be disposed of by sale, including discontinued operations. SFAS No. 144 requires that these long-lived assets be measured at the lower of carrying amount or fair value less cost to sell, whether reported in continuing operations or discontinued operations. This statement is effective beginning for fiscal years after December 15, 2001.

DISCOVERY OIL, LTD.
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2006

In complying with this standard, the Company reviews its long-lived assets quarterly to determine if any events or changes in circumstances have transpired which indicate that the carrying value of its assets may not be recoverable. The Company determines impairment by comparing the present value of future cash flows estimated to be generated by its assets to their respective carrying amounts. As of December 31, 2006 and 2005, no impairments were deemed necessary.

Oil properties

The Company follows the successful efforts method of accounting for its oil and gas operations. Currently, the Company is not in the process of exploring new wells. Under this method of accounting, all property acquisitions costs and costs of exploratory and development wells would be capitalized when incurred, pending determination of whether an individual well was found to have proved reserves. If it is determined that an exploratory well has not found proved reserves, the costs of drilling the well would be expensed. The costs of development wells would be capitalized whether productive or nonproductive. The Company would amortize capitalized costs on the units-of-production method based on production and total estimated proved reserves.

Provision for Taxes

Income taxes are provided based upon the liability method of accounting pursuant to Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes." Under this approach, deferred income taxes are recorded to reflect the tax consequences in future years of differences between the tax basis of assets and liabilities and their financial reporting amounts at each year-end. A valuation allowance is recorded against deferred tax assets if management does not believe the Company has met the "more likely than not" standard imposed by SFAS No. 109 to allow recognition of such an asset.

At December 31, 2006, the Company had deferred tax assets calculated at an expected rate of 34% of approximately $376,000 principally arising from operating loss carryforwards for income tax purposes. As management of the Company cannot determine that it is more likely than not that the Company will realize the benefit of the deferred tax asset, a valuation allowance equal to the net deferred tax asset has been established at December 31, 2006. The significant components of the deferred tax asset at December 31, 2006 and 2005 were as follows:

	December 31, 2006	December 31, 2005
Net operating loss carryforward	$ 1,107,000	$ 1,042,000
Deferred tax asset	$ 376,000	$ 354,000
Deferred tax asset valuation allowance	$ (376,000)	$ (354,000)

At December 31, 2006 and 2005, the Company has net operating loss carryforwards of approximately $1,107,000 and $1,042,000, which expire in the years 2021 through 2026. The above calculation includes a temporary difference for the recognition of Section 179 depreciation on the computer purchased in 2003. Utilization of the net operating losses is contingent upon the Company's filing of federal income tax returns, currently in arrears. See Note 6 regarding Company's liability for state income tax reporting. The Company's valuation allowance increased $22,000 from December 31, 2005 to December 31, 2006.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In February, 2007, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 159, "The Fair Value Option for Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities – Including an amendment of FASB Statement No. 115" (hereinafter SFAS No. 159"). This statement permits entities to choose to measure many financial instruments and certain other items at fair value. The objective is to improve financial reporting by providing entities with the opportunity to mitigate volatility in reported earnings caused by measuring related assets and liabilities differently without having to apply complex hedge accounting provisions. This statement is expected to expand the use of fair value measurement, which is consistent with the Board's long-term measurement objectives for accounting for financial instruments. This statement is effective as of the beginning of an entity's first fiscal year that begins after November 15, 2007, although earlier adoption is permitted. Management has not determined the effect that adopting this statement would have on the Company's financial condition or results of operation.

In September, 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 158, "Employers' Accounting for Defined Benefit Pension and Other Postretirement Plans – an amendment of FASB Statements No. 87, 88, 106, and 132(R)" (hereinafter "SFAS No. 158"). This statement requires an employer to recognize the overfunded or underfunded statuses of a defined benefit postretirement plan (other than a multiemployer plan) as an asset or liability in its statement of financial position and to recognize changes in that funded status in the year in which the changes occur through comprehensive income of a business entity or changes in unrestricted net assets of a not for profit organization. This statement also requires an employer to measure the funded status of a plan as of the date of its year end statement of financial position, with limited exceptions. The adoption of this statement had no immediate material effect on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

In September, 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 157, "Fair Value Measurements" (hereinafter "SFAS No. 157"). This statement defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value in generally accepted accounting principles, and expands disclosure about fair value measurements. This statement applies under other accounting pronouncements that require or permit fair value measurements. This statement does not require any new fair value measurements, but for some entities, the application of this statement may change current practice. The adoption of this statement had no immediate material effect on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

In June 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued FASB Interpretation No. 48, "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes – an interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109" (hereinafter "FIN 48"), which prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. FIN 48 also provides guidance on de-recognition, classification, interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods, disclosure and transition. FIN 48 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2006. The Company does not expect the adoption of FIN 48 to have a material impact on its financial reporting, and the Company is currently evaluating the impact, if any the adoption of FIN 48 will have on its disclosure requirements.

DISCOVERY OIL, LTD.
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2006

In March 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 156, "Accounting for Servicing of Financial Assets—an amendment of FASB Statement No. 140." This statement requires an entity to recognize a servicing asset or servicing liability each time it undertakes an obligation to service a financial asset by entering into a servicing contract in any of the following situations: a transfer of the servicer's financial assets that meets the requirements for sale accounting; a transfer of the servicer's financial assets to a qualifying special-purpose entity in a guaranteed mortgage securitization in which the transferor retains all of the resulting securities and classifies them as either available-for-sale securities or trading securities; or an acquisition or assumption of an obligation to service a financial asset that does not relate to financial assets of the servicer or its consolidated affiliates. The statement also requires all separately recognized servicing assets and servicing liabilities to be initially measured at fair value, if practicable and permits an entity to choose either the amortization or fair value method for subsequent measurement of each class of servicing assets and liabilities. The statement further permits, at its initial adoption, a one-time reclassification of available for sale securities to trading securities by entities with recognized servicing rights, without calling into question the treatment of other available for sale securities under Statement 115, provided that the available for sale securities are identified in some manner as offsetting the entity's exposure to changes in fair value of servicing assets or servicing liabilities that a servicer elects to subsequently measure at fair value and requires separate presentation of servicing assets and servicing liabilities subsequently measured at fair value in the statement of financial position and additional disclosures for all separately recognized servicing assets and servicing liabilities. This statement is effective for fiscal years beginning after September 15, 2006, with early adoption permitted as of the beginning of an entity's fiscal year. Management believes the adoption of this statement will have no immediate impact on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

In February 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 155, "Accounting for Certain Hybrid Financial Instruments, an Amendment of FASB Standards No. 133 and 140" (hereinafter "SFAS No. 155"). This statement established the accounting for certain derivatives embedded in other instruments. It simplifies accounting for certain hybrid financial instruments by permitting fair value remeasurement for any hybrid instrument that contains an embedded derivative that otherwise would require bifurcation under SFAS No. 133 as well as eliminating a restriction on the passive derivative instruments that a qualifying special-purpose entity ("SPE") may hold under SFAS No. 140. This statement allows a public entity to irrevocably elect to initially and subsequently measure a hybrid instrument that would be required to be separated into a host contract and derivative in its entirety at fair value (with changes in fair value recognized in earnings) so long as that instrument is not designated as a hedging instrument pursuant to the statement. SFAS No. 140 previously prohibited a qualifying special-purpose entity from holding a derivative financial instrument that pertains to a beneficial interest other than another derivative financial instrument. This statement is effective for fiscal years beginning after September 15, 2006, with early adoption permitted as of the beginning of an entity's fiscal year. Management believes the adoption of this statement will have no immediate impact on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

Revenue Recognition

Oil and gas revenues are recorded using the sales method. Under this method, the Company recognized revenues based on actual volumes of oil and gas sold to purchasers.

DISCOVERY OIL, LTD.
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2006

NOTE 3 - STOCKHOLDERS' DEFICIT

Common Stock

The Company has one class of issued and outstanding common stock. Prior to 2001, the par value of the common stock was $0.01, and 25 million shares were authorized for issue. Pursuant to a majority shareholders meeting held in August 2001, the Company's Certificate of Incorporation was amended to increase the number of shares of common stock authorized for issue to 200 million shares, to decrease the par value of the Company's common stock to $0.001 per share and to eliminate the provision authorizing preferred stock of the Company.

In prior years, the Company issued common stock at per-share amounts less than the common stock's par value. As a result, at December 31, 2000, a common stock discount of $4,643 was recorded in the Company's stockholders' deficit account, which was subsequently extinguished during 2001 when the Company reduced the par value of its common stock and converted certain debts into common stock.

In the year ended December 31, 2002, the Company issued 205,950 shares of restricted common stock for $43,820 to various investors.

In the year ended December 31, 2005, the Company issued 5,000,000 shares of common stock for $300,000 to directors for services.

In the year ended December 31, 2006, the Company issued no stock.

NOTE 4 - PROPERTY AND EQUIPMENT

Property and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation is provided using an accelerated method over the estimated useful lives of the assets. The useful lives of property, plant and equipment for purposes of computing depreciation are five to forty years. The following is a summary of property, equipment, and accumulated depreciation:

	December 31, 2006	December 31, 2005
Office equipment	2,037	1,820
Total assets	2,037	1,820
Less accumulated depreciation	(1,259)	(754)
	$ 778	$ 1,066

Depreciation and amortization expense for the year ended December 31, 2006 and 2005 was $505 and $711 respectively. The Company evaluates the recoverability of property and equipment when events and circumstances indicate that such assets might be impaired. The Company determines impairment by comparing the undiscounted future cash flows estimated to be generated by these assets to their respective carrying amounts. Maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred. Replacements and betterments are capitalized. The cost and related reserves of assets sold or retired are removed from the accounts, and any resulting gain or loss is reflected in results of operations.

NOTE 5 - RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

At December 31, 2002, the Company had a related party payable to its president and director for funds advanced on an unsecured and noninterest-bearing basis to the Company. The amount due to the president at December 31, 2006 and 2005 is $88,268 and $42,549, respectively.

The Company signed a lease with its president for the use of office space for $1,300 per month, or $15,600 per year. The Company also agreed to pay mileage for his travels relating to the Company. During 2006 and 2005, the Company accrued approximately $51,000 and $17,800 for rent, travel, general and administrative expenses, respectively.

NOTE 6 – STATE TAX LIABILITY

For the years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005, the Company estimated its California corporate tax liability to be $28,170 and $23,813, respectively, and the Delaware corporate tax liability to be $0, and $208, respectively. The Company has not filed a return with the State of California for several years and because of that the Company has been suspended from operating as a corporation in California. In order to revive its authorized corporation status in California, the Company must file all delinquent tax returns and pay all related California corporate income taxes, penalties and interest.

During 2005, the State of Delaware suspended the Company for failure to remit the annual corporate taxes. The Company has since paid the amounts owed and is again in good standing with Delaware, the state within which it is incorporated.

In the year ended December 31, 2006, the Company's state tax liability increased by $4,357.

NOTE 7 – ADVANCES PAYABLE

In the year ended December 31, 2004, the Company was loaned $7,000 from an unrelated party. This advance is uncollateralized, bears no interest and is payable upon demand. As of December 31, 2006, the outstanding balance remains unpaid.
